

Attack inference: 113 process objects, 8 published-label positives
One development window; published complement-label convention; not independent test accuracy

